

Speaker's Kit – Roxanne “Rox” Bartel

Feel free to use either the caricature or the formal headshot in your promotion. There are two bios, one for sharing in print and the other can be used in the introduction, if desired.

FORMAL BIO for print

Pinch-able cheeks, a wry wink and a hearty laugh are classic Roxanne “Rox” Bartel. For almost 30 years these qualities allowed her to playfully “stir things up” in every role from Trainer to CEO.

Today Rox is “stirring it up” with her own business, ImpactBank, where she offers leadership and career coaching with a focus on building actionable plans to be more self-aware; she’s developing group coaching programs for millennials; and, enjoying centre stage in various speaking gigs to organizations and conferences of all sizes.

Grace, wisdom beyond her years, and the personality to wear her signature red shoes – she’s got it all! Oh, and she is a huge Canadiens fan; ok, so clearly, she’s not perfect!

CONTACT INFO:

Roxanne Bartel

roxanne@impactbank.ca

647.998.9250

www.impactbank.ca

@ibroxee @thekickasscoach

FB /impactbank

IG @roxbartel

Introduction at event...have some fun with it

Our speaker is Roxanne Bartel, most people call her Rox. Rox is a leadership and career coach and podcaster and she still dabbles a bit in Performance and Culture Consulting. After 25 years in a progressive career in various leadership and Executive roles, in 2012 Rox started her own practice, she calls ImpactBank. Whether she's facilitating learning, offering individual or group coaching, or speaking to large audiences Rox enjoys the challenge of remaining informed by the latest theory & research and being quick to take her clients to the experiential. "Knowledge without action is hollow" she says...so get ready to be challenged to act on the insights you have today.

Grace, wisdom beyond her years, and the personality to wear her signature red shoes – Rox has it "going on"! Oh, she's a life-long Habs fan; SO, clearly that isn't working out so well for her lately!